Dear ProCat,

WOW! My band and I just got through watching the video that you filmed at our contest this past Saturday. It was incredible. The students could not stop talking about the quality of picture, sound, and the number of different camera angles used which enabled you to show many different individuals in the group. I know that rain put a little damper on things but I have had several directors call to comment on how much their students also enjoyed the video, and especially the excitement created by being able to view their performance immediately after the show in the theatre. I look forward to having you back next year, and weather provided, an even better turn out in the future.

Sincerely,

Tim Brannan
